

---

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Hsin Chang - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
!Thanx!

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Dan Newcombe - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
I'm sure there are others, but the only one I know of within a 50 mile radius of Atlanta would be the Commerce Outlet Mall (quite large). It is located (obviously) in Commerce GA northeast of Atlanta on I-85 (I would guess about 10-15 miles pass the split of 85 & 585 (the spur to Gainesville). It is *very* popular and has grown exponentially over the past few years. Yeah...that's got to be a good one, my mom and aunt are always going up there. :) There is also the JCPenney outlet store on the south side. It's not in the middle of an outlet area, but it's a friggin huge store. It's on Frontage road. FYI..Dan

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Jason R. Mastaler - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

I am not sure about ones near atlanta, but last weekend I was in Helen, GA and they have a very large Factory outlet store mall. -jason

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Rich Wardwell - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-) I'm sure there are others, but the only one I know of within a 50 mile radius of Atlanta would be the Commerce Outlet Mall (quite large). It is located (obviously) in Commerce GA northeast of Atlanta on I-85 (I would guess about 10-15 miles pass the split of 85 & 585 (the spur to Gainesville). It is *very* popular and has grown exponentially over the past few years.

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by David Gilbert - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

TO: ch...@netcom.com HC.@SUBJECT:Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta? HC.@N FROM :ch...@netcom.com HC.@N MSGID :<changCtC2BE....@netcom.com HCN Newsgroups: ga.general,atl.general HCFrom: ch...@netcom.com (Hsin Chang) HCSubject: Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta? HCMessage-ID: <changCtC2BE....@netcom.com HCDate: Fri, 22 Jul 1994 08:30:50 GMT HCHello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet HCstores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers HCcan go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place HCplease don't keep it secret ;-)
Hi! Don't know if you consider this close, but Commerce, NE of the city and a good drive up I-85 is THE factory outlet town in Georgia. I saw a few south of the Macon, Georgia, but Commerce would be closer. Just go north on I85 and you'll see the signs. Can't remember the county it's in, but a few counties past Gwinnett. Hope this helps! David Gilbert david.gilb...@atlwin.com

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by N. Tasova - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
!Thanx! Commerce, Ga has a pretty good collection of f.o.s. It is about one hour north of Atlanta on 85.

---

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by John De Armond - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
there's a huge outlet mall at exit 129 on I-75 north of atlanta. This is a bit above cartersville. There's another large one at the first Dalton exit. John

---

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by David Gilbert - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

TO: ch...@netcom.com HC.@SUBJECT:Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta? HC.@N FROM :ch...@netcom.com
HC.@N MSGID :<changCtC2BE....@netcom.com HCN Newsgroups: ga.general,atl.general HCFrom:
ch...@netcom.com (Hsin Chang) HCSubject: Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta? HCMessage-ID: <changCtC2BE....@netcom.com HCDate: Fri, 22 Jul 1994 08:30:50 GMT HCHello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet HCstores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers HCcan go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place HCplease don't keep it secret ;-) Hi! Don't know if you consider this close, but Commerce, NE of the city and a good drive up I-85 is THE factory outlet town in Georgia. I saw a few south of the Macon, Georgia, but Commerce would be closer. Just go north on I85 and you'll see the signs. Can't remember the county it's in, but a few counties past Gwinnett. Hope this helps! David Gilbert david.gilb...@atlwin.com

---

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Christopher L Francis - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
Well, in addition to Commerce, around 3 hours away, you can go to outlets in Asheville, NC or Pidgeon Forge TN (even tho they're a little further than Commerce, the scenery more than makes up for it, IMO). Come to think of it, there are some more in Alabama (Boaz) and one south of Macon (Perry?) - probably some GREAT deals there, if you don't mind water damage :).

---

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Scott Bostater - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it secret ;-)
Well, in addition to Commerce, around 3 hours away, you can go to outlets in Asheville, NC or Pidgeon Forge TN (even tho they're a little further than Commerce, the scenery more than makes up for it, IMO). Come to think of it, there are some more in Alabama (Boaz) and one south of Macon (Perry?) - probably some GREAT deals there, if you don't mind water damage :). The place south of Macon is 1 exit north or Warner Robins and 2 exits North of Perry. There's also Calhoun (sp?) and Dalton If you're heading I-75 North toward Chattanooga. There's also one in Valdosta, but we're getting too far away. I was traveling between Atlanta and Warner Robins yesterday and noticed another outlet mall going up between Atlanta and Macon. For what its worth, my wife and I have both been disappointed in the factory outlet stores for the past several years. There used to be good deals at them 5+ years ago, but lately we've been finding prices that are higher than Upton's during a normal sale. I think the owners' realized that: 1) People are willing to drive the extra distance for a good deal 2) People assume that factory outlets will have good prices and are willing to drive the extra distance to them 3) Once they're there, they feel like they have to buy something even if it isn't a super deal just to justify the trip to the outlet store. 4) They can jack up their prices until people realize they aren't worth the extra mileage. This is, of course, just my opinion. I still stop by the outlet stores when I'm on my way to visit family, but I wouldn't make a trip just to go to Commerce or Calhoun unless I knew there as a big sale that weekend. Just my $0.05 worth ($0.02 plus overhead)

---

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Les Reeves - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

: Hello everybody! Does anyone know any good factory outlet stores/malls : in/near Atlanta area? Or any other place where shoppers can go and get : good bargains will do. If you know any such place please don't keep it : secret ;-): Well, in addition to Commerce, around 3 hours away, you can go to : outlets in Asheville, NC or Pidgeon Forge TN (even tho they're a little : further than Commerce, the scenery more than makes up for it, IMO). : Come to think of it, there are some more in Alabama (Boaz) and one : south of Macon (Perry?) - probably some GREAT deals there, if you : don't mind water damage :). : The place south of Macon is 1 exit north or Warner Robins and 2 exits : North of Perry. : There's also Calhoun (sp?) and Dalton If you're heading I-75 North toward : Chattanooga. There's also one in Valdosta, but we're getting too far away. If you are really looking for deals go to Commerce. The outlet strip center at Calhoun is very limited. I went there recently looking for deals on tennis shoes and tube socks. There were none.

=====

outlet stores in Factory Outlet Stores in/near Atlanta?

Posted by Michael J. Donahoo - 2009/07/23 20:29

---

There is a small factory outlet on Clairmont at Buford inside the 285 loop. I know nothing of shopping, but my wife says they have good prices. To get there take 85N to the Clairmont exit and turn left. It is called Outlet Square (Storey (sp?) movie theater is there also).

=====